Abstracts

OLHA MADYLUS - Cambridge University Press

They're not just smaller (YLE)

Many years ago it was believed that children were just small versions of adults. Today we understand that not to be true. There is a huge difference between children under 8 years old and their older counterparts. And this is particularly important to take into account when teaching them. This presentation explores these differences and how teachers can accommodate the development of the child when at the same time teaching them English. We will examine how the development of motor skills needs to be included in early literacy development; how social skills need to be fostered to create a positive learning environment; the role early cognitive developmental stages play in language learning; and the importance of imagination and creativity in children's learning. Teachers will learn to appreciate the variety of development taking place in Primary students and consider how best to make teaching appropriate to this age group.

Developing Literacy (YLE)

Beginning reading and writing is challenging for young learners on many levels. This presentation examines those challenges and suggests strategies and activities that engage children and support literacy development. Tasks based on pre-literacy skills, whole-child learning, Multiple Intelligence theory and fun will be presented and tried out. Teachers will leave the session with lots of new ideas to use in their own lessons. Examples from Guess What and Super Minds will be presented.

SARAH ELLIS - Cambridge English Language Assessment

'The digital teacher' Making the most of digital tools & resources to develop language skills in and beyond the classroom

This session is designed to support teachers in extending their knowledge of digital tools and resources for developing their students language skills both in and out of the classroom and will include practical ideas for teachers to use for language development and exam preparation.

FLORINA-LIVIA ANGHELUȚĂ - Twinkle Star

Twinkle Star - A Fairytale Come True

All children need recognition and Twinkle Star has found a successful way of combining teaching with assessment. We started with only 14 children in 2008 and, after eight years of consistent work, have become a 'Cambridge English Language Assessment Authorised Centre', with over 1.100 candidates taking exams in our centre. During the seminar, the participants will discover how accessible it is to become a Preparation Centre for Cambridge Exams and what the advantages of becoming one are. We will give more information about the best way of choosing the relevant exam for students and explain the opportunities for both candidates and teachers. 3 lucky winners will receive a free TKT exam for themselves and discount vouchers for Cambridge exams for their students.
